EVENT OVERVIEW:

Women of Steel 2025 is a premiere event, leading the way for cutting edge ideas, innovation and inspiration for women entrepreneurs and executives. The goal of this conference is to educate and inspire while being a catalyst of conversation on the “Limitless” future of female leadership in the world. This prestigious event will focus on giving women the tools they need to not only live out their dreams, but to build a legacy for generations of women that will follow. The attendees will receive a full day of empowerment from powerhouse speakers that will ignite and engage them to not only shatter the glass ceiling but to see the limitless potential beyond that ceiling!

Dear Potential Partner,

It is with great pleasure that I present to you an awesome opportunity to partner in creating an environment for women entrepreneurs and executives to flourish. Women of Steel was birthed out of the need for a serious business conference focused solely on the growth and development of businesswomen while creating an environment to thrive. It is designed not only to educate but also to help turn today's business woman into tomorrow's local, national and even global leader. The event is designed to provide today's businesswoman with knowledge, tools, and a network to lead in a way that is Limitless.

There are 13 million women-owned businesses in the United States. Four out of every ten businesses are owned by women, and they employ 9.4 million people. It's estimated that over 1,200 new women-owned businesses were launched every day in 2023. In addition, 66 percent of women business owners are sole owners of their companies which means the primary decision maker in this evolution in business, is female.

Just 25% of women business owners seek business financing but when they do, these businesses generate $1.8 trillion dollar revenue. Private tech companies led by women achieve 35% higher ROI. Women-founded companies in first round capital's portfolio outperformed companies founded by men by 63% (source: INC). The impact that today's businesswomen have on our economy cannot be ignored. In fact, it must be supported more by organizations like yours!

Last year's inaugural event was stellar. The conference hosted over 220 engaged, inspired and empowered women. One participant remarked, "from start to finish the Women of Steel Business Conference answered burning questions I had for my business while giving a platform for a caliber of female leaders that this region had never seen. I will be there and bring all of my friends this year!" With your partnership, we can make this year even more impactful for not just the women who attend but for the communities they serve.

There is no greater time than now to be a part of a tremendous movement not only in our area, but in history. Please join me in supporting these women leaders in business as we grow together towards a better future!

Sincerely,

Cotrenia Hood
